Today i recieved an email from the crownandanchor society. In the email they said that they had came over my site the previous day. They said that i had an admiring piece of work that in time could turn into something that could really help them. So i kept on reading and they said that they would keep a good eye on the site and that i could be rewarded greatly. Come check out my site by going to www.royalcaribbean.piczo.com. See you there,

Congrats, I'm in the process of creating a site dedicated to the architecture of Royal Caribbean ships, I have started with one site dedicated to Genesis which I hoped I would open this month but that was not possible due to the lack of time. I only have some diagrams and drawings but it is really difficult to make a site dedicated to a ship we can only speculate about.

Here is a link to my site: <http://rcigenesis.googlepages.com/>

Skylar,

I just visted your site, very cool. I'll be sailing on the Majesty Super Bowl weekend with my 3 sisters for a girls weekend and then I'll be on your ship the Vision of the Seas in April.

well thank you for comeing to my website. I hope you keep coming from time to time. From a kids point of view, you will have a wonderful time on Vision of the Seas. Its a beautiful ship, it may not have all the perks of a newer ship, but there are enough things for you to do for a whole 7 night cruise
